

Why Use EWF

At EWF we constantly look for opportunities to improve the quality and range of services we provide to our clients. We are dedicated to delivering an honest and professional service without exaggerating our fees.

Our portfolio of training is intended to be accessible to all functional levels and we have worked hard to incorporate traditional with new and effective models of learning.

Our consultancy services incorporate Health and Safety, Career Management and Business Process audit and management services, sourced from proven and experienced professionals in their own fields.

With legislation paramount within the Health and Safety sector and taking account of the new Corporate Manslaughter Acts 2007, we ensure our training and consultancy reduce the risks to you, your staff and your business.

Our management programmes are designed to assist you with developing your workforce and your future leaders at a pace which suits your business and the individuals within the business.

EWF will work with you to develop strategies and programmes to meet your particular needs and the needs of your business. We understand the difficulties in releasing people for training and so are entirely flexible. We are happy to deliver a service at times and locations to suit you.

We recognise that our success depends upon the success of our clients -and so our aim is to work with you to become a trusted partner in your business.
